ON FAR LONG ISLAND
12 FOR ONE, ONE FOR 12
A NEW GREAT FLYER

By Arthur Brisbane

THIS IS WRITTEN ON THE 7:20
train for Montauk far eastern end of Long Island, reaching out into the Atlantic ocean toward Europe.

That piece of the United States
interests all Americans, for there, probably you will land from your transatlantic flying machine coming back from Europe.

THAT FAR END OF the island,
which is now made into a playground by Carl Fisher, who created Miami Beach, will be the great American city "nearest to Europe"
some day.

At present Mr. George Le Boullier's excellent "cannon ball express"
takes you there in a little over three hours. But while Mr. Bouliller is still a young man, he will be running airplanes out there in less than half an hour.

You leave Manhattan island,
with the temperature at 90.
Three hours later, at Montauk,
with the wind coming at full sweep from the ocean, you find it too cold to sit comfortably out of doors.

Not a place for little people to buy lots, too long to hold it.
But a big change for big people richly eager to spoil their children with unnecessary wealth.

CHARLES CUNNINGHAM, born
at Sea Harbor, nearby, conductor, collects the three railroad tickets that you must buy in order to have a room and who works on the train.
Says: "Pleased to meet you. I always read your articles. I was telling the boys yesterday about a piece you wrote two years ago when you said,
'Now there are 12 jobs for every man. But the day will come when there will be 12 men for every job.
So take care of your money while you have it.' I guess some of them with they had taken your advice."

PROBABLY SOME DO, but it is not too late. Good times and prosperity will come back, and men out of work will not be out of work long.
The country is the world's richest, and its wealth is not one-tenth developed.

CAPTAIN HAWKS, who stands out now as the greatest American flier, left New York at 6 o'clock in the morning, eastern daylight time, headed in Los Angeles at 50 minutes past 4 p. m., Pacific standard time, keeping an appointment to play golf at the edge of the Pacific, after leaving that morning, the edge of the Atlantic. His flying time all in broad daylight was less than 15 hours, and he made five stops for refueling. That will not be necessary in future days, with better machines
and better fuel.

Mayor Imposes $25 Fine Against Man

George Brady was fined $20 and costs on a charge of resisting an officer in execution of his duty on arraignment before Mayor J. M. Davison this week. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

A charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors was dismissed by Davidson for lack of evidence.

Bryan Gets Rain

BRYAN, Aug. 8.—A heavy rain
of near cloudburst proportions flooded streets here today. It was the first rain since June.

Escapes Death

ERIC WOOD, well-known commercial pilot, added his name to the illustrious roll of the Caterpillar club when he escaped death by jumping from his plane when the motor failed over Westbury, L. I.

The ship crashed in the back yard
of George Gresham, with fatal results to about 150 chickens.

COUNTY AID FOR CITY ROAD WORK DISCUSSED HERE

Apportionment Of Funds To Salem Said Unequal By J. R. Stratton

Failure of the city of Salem to obtain its proportionate share of funds from Columbiana county for improvement of county highways
extending into the city's corporation limits was discussed at the monthly business meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Memorial building Thursday.

Financial statistics showing that the city had received only $5,000
from the county for road work here were submitted by J. R. Stratton, president of the Salem Business bureau and chairman of the Kiwanis public affairs committee in efforts to explain that an appeal should be made to the board of county commissioners for financial aid in improvement of highways here.

Stratton explained that too much money is apportioned to the southern end of the county each year,
and that Salem residents and other residents in this section were partly responsible in that they failed to visit commissioners and file requests for aid.

Submits Figures
The figures submitted by Stratton showed that East Liverpool has received $45,000 aid and has promise of $20,000 more. Wellsville has received $15,000 and is promised an additional $7,000. Others receiving county aid are:

Solvilleville village, $5,000; Lisbon
$3,000; Leetonia $11,000; Salem $5,000; Columbiana $10,000 with promise of $5,000 more. East Palestine, this year, has received no aid from the commissioners.

Stratton suggested that Salem
residents visit the commissioners in Lisbon and make attempts to secure a proportionate share for this city.

The question of unequal distribution of funds was taken before the commissioners this week by a delegation of East Palestine residents who asked county aid in improvement of roads in that city.
The commissioners informed the delegation that no aid can be given in the proposed improvements.

An invitation was extended to the club to attend the annual "Neighbors' Day" celebration at Akron next Wednesday. B. L. Flick, president of the club, gave a short talk on "Impressions Obtained
From a Kiwanis International Convention."

Flick was a delegate to the convention held last month in Atlantic City.

Fire Burns Over Farm Near Salem

Fire of unknown origin was started on the rear of the Frank Boals farm, Damascus road, about 4 p. m. Thursday, and was still smoldering this afternoon, after efforts had been made to extinguish the flames by piling around the fire.

The fire covered about four or five acres and was partly in a woods.
It is reported that two men were seen leaving the clearing before the fire started, and it is supposed that it might have started from ashes from a cigar or cigarette. Men worked until 11 last night before the blaze was under control.

Large Primary Vote Expected In Salem

PLAN PARADE BY PARTY HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Ideas For Campaign To Stimulate Voting
Are Discussed

INTEREST REPORTED
HIGH BY CHAIRMAN
Polls Open At 6:30
Primary Day; Expect
Record Polling

Campaigns to stimulate political interest and secure a record-breaking vote in the primary election
next Tuesday neared completion as members of the Salem Republican party gathered in their second meeting within a four-day period at the Memorial building Thursday night.

Preliminary plans were formulated for a city-wide campaign to agitate casting of ballots by every eligible Salem resident while the entire program preparatory to the election will be climaxed with a political parade through the city Monday night, according to plans of party leaders.

Interest High
Interest in the primaries is reported by E. M. Peters, chairman of the city's Republican executive committee, greater than that shown in any other primary election involving state and county candidates
in the city's history.

A committee composed of Harold Hise, chairman, Everett J. Rich, and Albert P. Morris was appointed to arrange plans for the parade
while a second group composed of Thurl G. Eckstein, chairman, Ralph B. Snyder and Mrs. Alice Pow was named to take charge of distribution of literature agitating increased interest in political events.

The slogan, "every voter out Tuesday" was adopted by the assembly and all persons asked to appear at polling places regardless of party affiliation. Polls will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Absent voters, anticipating absence from the city on the day of the election, should secure ballots from the county election board at East Liverpool and must file them before midnight
Sunday.

Expect Large Vote
Republican partisans anticipate a large vote here throughout the day of the primaries. Three Salem men are involved in contests for nomination on the Republican ticket while interest is also high in the state ticket on both Republican and Democratic parties.

Checkers will be employed by the Republican party to visit every voting precinct in the city for the purpose of ascertaining number of persons to cast ballots. Persons who are eligible to vote and who did not cast a ballot will be asked to do so by telephone following surveys conducted by the checkers.

The parade committee will announce on Saturday further plans concerning whether or not the parade will be held Monday.

SCATTERED SHOWERS IN NATION FAIL TO BRING RELIEF FROM HOT WAVE

Deaths Reported Daily As Mercury Hangs Near 100 Mark Over Much Of United States;
Drouth Affects Vegetable Prices

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.— President Hoover today had need of his wide experience in disaster relief work in completing his program for relief of the drought stricken sections.

Pending receipt of definite information from the agriculture department Monday on the damage done and threatened,
he called three members of the federal farm board and its general counsel, Stanley Reed, to the White House for a conference. The board members were Samuel R. McKelvie, William F. Schilling and Charles
S. Wilson.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The heat hangs on. Undaunted by a few showers here and there and apparently determined to set an endurance record all its own.

Extremely high temperatures shift from one part of the country to the other. Scattered rains bring brief shouts of joy from farmers and city folk as well, and a cool breeze now and then conjures up a mirage of autumn and comfort, but the country as a whole swelters in one of the most prolonged hot spells in its history.

Damage to corn and pasture land continues to be reported. Twenty percent of Iowa's corn is said to be past saving. Eastern Nebraska is believed to be in even worse condition. The agricultural department of the Santa Fe railroad estimates
the damage will run from 10 to 75
percent in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska.

Southern Illinois continues to be one of the driest sections of the country with streams receding, wells going dry and the pasture land slowly burning up. The last soaking rain there was late in March.

Chicago thermometers did not get higher than 84 yesterday but an unusually high humidity made up for what the sun lacked.

Temperatures were not quite so high in the west yesterday, although it was 96 in Washington and 94 in Philadelphia. A cooling breeze held the mercury down to 86 in New

2 ARE HANGED BY INDIANA MOB AFTER SLAYING

Negro Said To Attacked
Girl After Slaying
Her Companion

TEAR BOMBS FAIL

National Guard Ready To

Disorders

(By The Associated Press)
MARIION, IND., Aug. 8.—A frenzied mob of 1,000 persons which stormed the Grant county jail late last night snatched two negroes from their cells and hung them on the courthouse square.

The victims of the mob's fury were Thomas Shipp, 38, accused of fatally shooting Claude Deeter, 23,
of Fairmount, Ind., and Abs. Smith, 19, who police said admitted attacking Deeter's girl companion
after the shooting on a lonely country road east of here.

Using sledge hammers after they were driven off once by use of tear gas bombs, members of the mob smashed a hole in the masonry beside the jail door and broke their way through two steel doors to reach the cells of the negroes.

Shipp's clothing was torn from his body by the maddened men and he was borne in a blanket to the courthouse yard and hanged from the bars of a window in the building.

Knocked Unconscious
Smith, borne from the jail by a group of men after they had knocked him unconscious with their fists and hammers was thrown on the ground where a horde of screaming women trampled on him and tore his body with their finger nails. He then was hung on a tree in the courthouse yard.

Harley Hardin, Grand county prosecutor, told the Associated

Members of the Salem police force and a posse of 10 Salem residents combined in a search for a man who is alleged to have cut Mrs. Mary Buta, West Fifth street, about the head and face with a razor this morning.

The woman sustained a long cut
on her forehead. Police Chief T. W.
Thompson reported while search for the man and efforts to his identity
have been without result.

Neighbors report that the attack
occurred on the rear porch of Mrs.
Buta's home. The man is said to have demanded entrance into the house and was refused admittance
by Mrs. Buta. He then drew a razor, attacked the woman and cut her
about the head.

Mrs. Buta resisted the attack, causing the man to drop the weapon following which she picked the razor up and chased him through a field. Neighbors hearing her screams, joined in the chase, while a call was being sent in to the city police department.

Patrolman William Reardon was detailed to the case and searched
the entire northeastern section of the city for the attacker who was last seen running north on North Howard avenue. Ten men, some of them armed with revolvers, participated in the chase.

The man eluded the pursuing posse and is believed to have effected his escape by leaving the
city.

Mrs. Buta's wounds are not serious.

WAGE AGREEMENTS

The history of labor relations in the anthracite industry is characterized by turbulence, long strikes, hard times and clashes between the operators and the miners. It is, therefore, accepted as news of considerable importance when a report from Scranton, Pa., states that union officials and operators assembled in that city to take action on the new wage scale and working agreement are confident of an amicable settlement.

The present wage contract between operators and miners in the anthracite industry expires on Aug. 31 of this year. It was signed in Feb., 1926, after 145,000 miners had been on strike for 170 days—the longest suspension in the history of the industry. Anticipating the expiration of the agreement, the miners' scale committee and representatives of operators met recently in New York City. The agreement which they reached and which is now under consideration by the assembly at Scranton is virtually the same as the existing contract.

There is every reason to believe and hope that nothing will occur to retard a satisfactory settlement this year. The anthracite industry, largely as a result of its troubles in 1925-26, is no longer a limited natural monopoly, a classification given it eight years ago by the United States Coal commission. Although the internal organization of the industry remains substantially the same as it was preceding other wage agreements, changes in market conditions have altered the demand for anthracite, creating a condition of chronic oversupply. Any new agreement, therefore, must reflect these conditions. Weakening of the support which can be expected from the bituminous coal fields where the union is no longer believed capable of extending help in case of trouble is also a major consideration for the miners' representatives.

Thus far, the negotiations have followed the usual path—both sides have expressed confidence in their ability to reach an early settlement and have gone into conference. In the past, such conferences have turned out disastrously; in 1930, however, it seems probable that hard times in the industry will insure a more sensible settlement.

ESCAPING THE HEAT.

The hot weather is upsetting the children so that it's almost impossible to manage them and the thought of cooking another meal on a hot stove is just too much so why not arrange a little picnic for tomorrow night? When daddy comes home he can bring some things from the delicatessen and we'll drive out into the country a little way and just stop at the first nice, cool place we see.

We'll go early of course, but why doesn't daddy come? He's usually home by this time and he promised he'd come early today. Now don't fret, lams—he'll be here soon. There he comes. Now, dear, you take a blanket and get into the car and mother will come in just a minute. Daddy's all ready. What! Well, if you have to change your clothes, hurry because the children are so restless.

Now then we'll soon be cool. Yes, you can sit in front and help daddy drive. Why, daddy hasn't any rolls in the basket. Well, then if you're sure we can get some on the way—

Who would have thought that three stores wouldn't have rolls? I didn't bring any knife to cut bread, but we'll cut it somehow. No, dear, we can't stop there because that's a lawn. No, dear, not in the cemetery. Maybe daddy will turn down this little side road here.

Daddy didn't know he was driving into the man's driveway, but never mind we'll see another road.

SHOT AT SUNRISE

Over there's a nice place and it's off the road too where we can be all alone. If everyone takes something we can walk there in just a minute.

There, doesn't that look good. Careful, children, about getting your fingers sticky. What's that on your cheek? Goodness, they're all over you. Why, pet, you were sitting right on a nasty ant hill. There, that's better. It's almost too dark to see any more isn't it, but I guess we won't need lights on the car. Was that lightning? Hurry, I believe it's going to storm. Oh, darling, you've spilled the jam all over sister. Don't bother—run before you get just soaked.

You're simply drenched, pet, but daddy will hurry and get you back before you catch cold. Oh, we forgot the blanket but daddy will go back and get it. Don't fret, dears, we'll soon be back where it's nice and cozy.

THE SECOND DIRIGIBLE

"Economy" is a word likely to have startling and unforeseen effects. A result of its use by President Hoover had such an effect when officials in the navy department let it be known that there has been talk of abandoning a project to contract for a second dirigible, to be built for the navy at Akron. This action was presumed to be a possible response to the President's request for an economy program to save something like $200,000,000 in federal expenditures this year.

In the excitement which followed the announcement it was overlooked that the navy could hardly recall money it hadn't spent, or even contracted to spend; that construction of the second dirigible is contingent upon acceptance of the first by the navy department. The vehemence of the protests which the rumor called out indicates the public thinks halving the program at this time would be false economy any way. It is more interested in retirement of the battleships Florida, Utah and Arkansas, which would be a direct effect.

Opinion is divided on the value of lighter-than-air equipment to uses of defense, but the fact that it never has been tested is an argument against condemnation of the navy's dirigible building program when it is but half completed. The airship, despite its achievement, is still in an experimental stage and especially the type which the navy has in mind.

Naval officials favorable to development of the dirigible's possibilities interpret the public's response to the recent rumor emanating from the navy department as support for their program. At any rate, it will be time enough to talk about a second ship when the first has been completed and tested—which will be at least another year.

"Over here to the curb" is a pretty serious order to the drivers of mid-get cars. Some of these policemen are pretty big.

The population of London is increasing so fast that 12,000 additional houses are required each year.

What Others Say

FERGUSONISM REVIVED

Returns from the Democratic primary in Texas demonstrate the wisdom of Gov. Moody's decision not to stand for a third term. So clearly drawn are the factional lines between him and the Fergusonists it can not be supposed that any who would have voted for Moody are now found in Mrs. Ferguson's total. Had both Moody and his road commissioner, Ross Sterling, stayed in the primary, they would simply have shared the anti-Ferguson vote. This might have given Mrs. Ferguson a clear majority over all the rest of the candidates. And there were ten of them.

As late as May 3 dispatches from Texas asserted that Gov. Moody planned to offer for a third term. Mr. Sterling, executor of the governor's road policy, was already in the field. But reports from the counties apparently convinced the anti-Fergusonists that "Ma's" strength, via "Jim," was at least as great as the rural 10,000 supposed to be the top of the Ferguson fighting. The results of the primary show that this was accurate. Even the governor's failure to stand did not prevent Mrs. Ferguson, running now as always to vindicate Jim, from polling over 50,000 votes more than Mr. Sterling. There must be a run-off Aug. 23, and the losers—plus the governor—are rallying to Mr. Sterling as the only hope of keeping the Fergusonists away from power at Austin.

Two elements, one long powerful and the other long weak, in Texas politics can not view the outcome with satisfaction. The Klan disappeared as a factor, although as recently as 1924 it was the chief issue, and in 1925 it was much discussed. The wets made no showing against Senator Morris Sheppard, and candidates for governor who are against prohibition were low in the poll. The leader, Mrs. Ferguson, is intensely a dry. A third element, which in the national election of 1928 turned Texas over to the Republicans, also went heavily under in recent voting. These are, or were, the "Hoovercrats." Their candidate, Thomas B. Love, ran a bad fourth, and already he has moved back toward the party fold on the double quick. Obviously Texas, like Virginia and North Carolina, was simply anti-Smith and never pro-Hoover or Republican.—New York Times.

CLEANUP URGED IN PITTSBURGH BY H. D. WILSON

Dry Administrator Warns
Pennsylvania City Of Chicago's Fate

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—That Pittsburgh "will meet an end the same fate" as Chicago and Detroit unless certain of the "higher-ups" are forced to forego the defiance of the law was the warning sounded here by Harold D. Wilson, assistant prohibition administrator for this district.

Referring to prohibition and law enforcement in general, Wilson asserted that "rottenness and corruption travel from the top down; not from the bottom up."

The assistant administrator took occasion to flay "ladies with more money, time and lapdogs than brains, ambition and God-given children," who, he said, violate the laws by playing auction bridge in precisely the same ratio as denizens of the underworld shooting craps in a back alley.

"It is time to face the facts," Wilson continued. "It is time to denounce the news criminals become heroes in the public mind because of undue emphasis on their exploits. This is not intended as a criticism of the press—but what good city editor would ever write such a headline as 'Homely Squaw Kills Disreputable Husband'?" The headline would be "Beautiful Blond Shoots Church Deacon," Irene Schroeder was a marvelously pretty, little blond bandit until her picture was printed in the papers—and then what a face!

"I have been apprehending criminals for quite some time and nine-tenths of them are undersized, undernourished, and deficient in gray matter. Nearly all are heroes when they have a poor defenseless man or woman covered with a .38, but now they will scatter before one officer of the law."

"We cannot permit men in positions of trust to wink at certain officials and then expect rigid enforcement of statutes. Such men will laugh at you with impunity. A policeman who will collect $25 from a bootlegger will take $50 from a robber, or 30 cents from an Italian shoe man, Chicago and Detroit are reaping the harvest of lax enforcement and Pittsburgh will meet and merit the same fate unless pressure is brought to bear on certain of the higher-ups."

"The main trouble with prohibition enforcement at the present time is not lack of sanity in enforcement but lack of sanity in public expectations. Why expect prohibition to prohibit 100 per cent or even 50 per cent when other laws such as gambling, and the like are not more than 30 or 40 per cent enforced?"

WRONG MAN IN UNCLE'S GRAVE

Family Discovers Error After Funeral For Man; Cannot Recover Expenses

BALTIMORE, Aug. 8.—Nephews and nieces who yesterday believed they had attended the funeral of their uncle came back from the cemetery to find they had buried a stranger. They discovered their uncle alive and well and standing at the intersection of a busy street.

Police to whom they appealed for relief were only able to change health department records to show an unknown man had been buried. The coroner could do no more, and told them there was no way to recover funeral expenses.

Last Monday a man was found dead in Carroll park and Charles Hower identified it as William L. Lewis, an uncle who had lived with him for 15 years. The identification was confirmed by other nephews and nieces.

Backseat Driving Results In Suit

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 8.—Emphatic "backseat" driving today has led Zsigmond and Julia Polgar to court, defendants in a $10,000 damage suit brought by John Ziman, passenger in their automobile.

Ziman alleges Mrs. Polgar, seated in the rear, caused the car to careen into a ditch. Ziman alleges he was injured.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, August 9—The widespread operations for this day point to great enterprise and initiative, with change, probably travel and fresh opportunities. While the general trend of events is favorable for new projects to be launched under this high stimulus, yet there are likely to be agitations, vexations, difficulties and probably emotion or failure to satisfy or agree with employers or superiors. The menaces are not, however, of first magnitude and may be overcome by decisiveness and keeping the mental outlook wholesome and the conduct amiable.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a particularly lively and enterprising year, with change and probably travel, including a rather undesirable experience in employment or with those in authority. The vexations, difficulties and personal inharmonies may, however, be overcome by amiability and sweetness of temper, guarding the mind against turmoil and agitation. A child born on this day should be splendidly equipped with resourcefulness, initiative and courage, but its personal and mental tendencies may be the means of negating its best efforts. It should guard against caustic and sarcastic speech and aggressiveness.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Importance—Oral Hygiene

"Oral Hygiene" is a term used to describe the care of the teeth, tongue, gums and tissues of the mouth. The increase in knowledge of this branch is public health is remarkable. It will do as much to prevent disease and promote the health of the human race as almost any other health movement.

It is not so many years ago that thousands of persons consulted the dentist only when there was toothache, or a broken tooth to repair. Even today much ignorance exists as to the effect of unhealthy conditions in the mouth may have upon the general health.

There are many causes for this undesirable state of affairs, but neglect of the teeth is the most usual one. Decayed teeth, diseased tonsils, abscesses in the mouth may cause rheumatism, a heart condition, anemia and many other disturbances. It is not unreasonable to say that even ulcer of the stomach may be the result of trouble which had its start in a neglected mouth.

The first thing to do to prevent trouble from the mouth is to use the toothbrush often. Select a brush with bristles stiff enough to clean between the teeth, but not harsh enough to bruise the gums. Care must be exercised not to injure the gums. Brush the teeth from the gums to the cutting edge, not across the teeth.

There are many good tooth pastes and powders on the market. Be sure to select one which does not leave a deposit on the teeth. Some dentists think a powder is preferable, especially if there is stain or deposit on the teeth.

Consult your dentist about every six months. He will give you thorough examination and repair. Much assistance has been given in the last few years through the prophylactic work being done in the schools by young women who are especially trained. They remove tartar, clean and polish the teeth. They also instruct the children in the care of the mouth, as well as in general hygiene.

Many backward children have been given equality with normal children by the correction of mouth defects. There cannot be clear thinking if the body is being poisoned.

Agriculture Dept. Head
Rushing Brought Relief

VOTE TRADING CHARGE HURLED

Cleveland Candidate In Attack On Bulkley;
Dry Law Assailed

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—A charge of "openly trading votes all over Ohio" today had been hurled at Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic candidate for senatorial nomination by George S. Myers, Cleveland, one of his four opponents.

Myers, also a Cleveland, made the charge before the Democratic Women's organization picnic at an amusement park here last night. Bulkley, William W. Durbin, Kenton; John McSweeney, Wooster, and Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, also were present as speakers.

The Paramount issue of the forthcoming campaign is "bread for the unemployed" Myers said, after his brief attack on Bulkley. Bulkley and McSweeney spoke principally on prohibition. Bulkley against the amendment and McSweeney for it. Truax and Durbin confined their addresses to farm relief, attacks on the Republican national administration and unemployment.

Modification of the Volstead law was urged by Stephen M. Young, Cleveland, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. He urged Ohio voters to require their candidates to come out openly on the wet and dry question.

The Anti Saloon league was given a tongue-lashing by Young for its participation in politics.

ENGINEER DIES IN TRAIN WRECK

Fireman May Also Lose Life As Result of Santa Fe Crash
In Arizona

WINSLOW, ARIZ., Aug. 8.—Santa Fe passenger train number 8, from Los Angeles to Chicago, broke through a rain-weakened bridge 10 miles west of Joseph City, Ariz., last night, killing the engineer, R. E. Bixby, and probably killing the fireman, Morris B. Bunney, no passengers were reported hurt.

Rain falling generally over north central Arizona, hampered outsiders attempting to reach the scene and little could be learned of the wreck. Santa Fe officers here and dispatchers officers along the line professed ignorance of details except to state no passengers were hurt.

BOSTON CREATES ARSON SQUAD TO SURVEY BLAZE

City Now Has Authority To Investigate All Fires In Limits

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Appointment of an arson squad under the new fire prevention law which becomes effective on December 1, next, has met with great praise and high endorsement on the part of State and city officials, according to Stephen H. Whidden, chairman of the Boston Chamber of Commerce committee on fire prevention.

Chairman Whidden pointed out the effectiveness of such a squad in other cities and principally that of the city of Detroit. He took occasion in pointing out further the dangers involved in the question of jurisdiction and urged that no such controversy take place between state and city officials. At the same time he praised Mayor Curley, Police Commissioner Hulman and Fire Commissioner McLaughlin for taking immediate advantage of the new law.

Now Have Authority To Investigate All Fires In Limits

In his statement Chairman Whidden declared: "After many years of restriction the city government of Boston now has authority and is obligated to investigate the cause of all fires, and if possible to determine whether they are of suspicious origin. This is one of the provisions of the new fire prevention law effective December 1 next. Heretofore Boston's fire loss has been unnecessarily large and while it has been conceded that incendiary was a substantial cause, the number of convictions for arson was small. The way is open now for Boston to take the upper hand in fighting the crime of arson."

"We heartily commend the announcement of Mayor Curley, Police Commissioner Hulman and Fire Commissioner McLaughlin that immediate advantage will be taken of the new law. It is intended to create an Arson Squad whose duty would be to investigate fires and apprehend persons believed to be guilty of committing arson."

Very Important Step
This is one of the most important steps ever taken by the city to reduce fire losses. We believe that vigorous, resourceful and untiring action to stamp out arson will result. We urge that no question of jurisdiction between state and city officials will stand in the way of the operation of this squad as effective as is humanly possible.

"Detroit was confronted with a similar challenge several years ago. A small Arson Squad made a determined drive and established a praiseworthy record of convictions with the result that the crime practically disappeared. We are confident that Boston can do equally well in its efforts. Nothing can be put in the way of the success of the Arson Squad."

A MODERN FAGIN?

MARY CHOVANEC & FATHER

WHAT is society to do with a modern "Fagin" who sends his own children out to steal?

John Chovanec, a muscular janitor, has just been remanded to jail here on a charge of disorderly conduct. His 12-year-old daughter, Mary, accuses him of torturing and beating her two brothers, a sister and herself because they couldn't steal enough from neighborhood stores.

In court, Mary pointed out a spiked broom handle and a belt as the instruments which her parent used to force her into a life of thievery. The other children are Steven, 13, John, 10, and Julia, 8.

Chovanec admitted to Magistrate McKinstry that he whipped his offspring because they were disobedient and remained out until late at night. He vigorously denied being a "Fagin," however, and his evidence was corroborated by his wife.

Trembling with fear, round-eyed little Mary ascended the witness stand and told her story. Each day after school, she said, her father sent her and the three other children out on shepherding expeditions.

They were dispatched to the shops of various merchants, but specialized in raiding the counters of a five-and-ten-cent store. Returning home with their pitiful loot, she continued, her father examined it.

When the proximity of clerks had made stealing too hazardous they returned empty-handed. This, Mary told the court, always made her father fly into a violent rage. According to the girl, he first lashed them unmercifully with a belt, then thrust them out upon a fire-escape, where he had adjured a broom handle, studded with a row of nails.

On this she alleged, the children were forced to kneel until he gave the word to rise. If they refused, Mary testified, they were beaten again and again.

Agent John De Vito of the Children's Society of New York City followed the child on the stand. De Vito declared he had gone to the squalid Chovanec home after receiving a complaint from a neighbor and found the four children cut and bruised about their faces and bodies.

De Vito took the two boys and girls to the shelter maintained by the society. If the charges of cruelty are maintained they will be placed in a public institution until they become of age.

Meanwhile, police are investigating Mary's "Fagin" charges. They are trying to learn what the children stole and how Chovanec disposed of the loot.

The charge of disorderly conduct which Chovanec has been convicted carries a six months maximum sentence. If authorities can prove that the man forced his offspring to steal, additional charges will be placed against him.

ROOSEVELT GETS DUEL CHALLENGE

Book Written by American Cause Of Much Disturbance: On New Post

MANILA, Aug. 8.—Nicholas Roosevelt, President Hoover's recess appointee to the vice-governorship of the Philippines, today was challenged to a pistol duel by Narciso Lapuz. The challenge was issued through a press association.

Several days ago two young Filipinos hurled into Manila bay a package which they said contained a copy of Roosevelt's book "The Philippines: A Treasure and a Problem." This book has been widely criticized here.

A news photographer hired a boatman for one peso (50 cents) and went a-grappling for the widely advertised package. On fishing it out of the bay he found a book but not Roosevelt's.

Book stores took advantage of the publicity and ordered a large number of copies from the United States.

Stench Bomb Bursts In Cleveland Hotel

CLEVELAND, Aug. 8.—The explosion of two stench bombs in a downtown hotel and the finding of stench liquid in another was blamed by police today upon the strike of union kitchen and dining room employees protesting "open shop" policies.

One stench bomb exploded in the checkroom of the lobby of the Hotel Statler last night and drove more than 50 guests into the street. A few hours before three bottles of liquid used in making stench bombs were discovered at the doors of guest rooms at the Hotel Hollenden. One man who had some of the fluid in his pocket was arrested.

TWO ARE HANGED BY INDIANA MOB AFTER SLAYING

Negro Said To Attacked Girl After Slaying Her Companion

Press this morning that no charges will be filed against leaders of the mob. On the other hand, Chief of Police Lewis Lindenmuth said some action "might be taken."

Shortly after the height of the violence at the courthouse square a crowd of 500 Negroes gathered in the Negro section of the city, but no action resulted beyond objections voiced by several speakers who charged the sheriff's force with failure properly to protect the lives of the prisoners. No shots were fired during the assault on the jail.

Move Body to Tree

The body of Shipp, after swinging against the side of the building for a time, was moved to the tree on which Smith was hung.

The mob dispersed early today after it had taken from the jail and severely beaten Herbert Cameron, 19. Today 50 state policemen and police officers from surrounding towns, armed with sub-machine guns maintained order in this city, while Gov. Harry G. Leslie said he stood ready to recall the national guard from its training quarters at Camp Knox, Ky., if further trouble developed.

The appearance of the mob was reported after Cameron was returned to the jail. It was discovered the men had intended taking Robert Sullivan, 19, who was implicated in the killing of Deeter, instead of Cameron, whose connection with the other Negroes was only that of an accomplice in several recent robberies.

A move toward Sullivan, after the mistake was discovered, and Cameron returned, was thwarted by a man who said he was an uncle of the girl attacked. He parangued the mob, saying the two men directly involved had been punished, and advised against further violence. Soon after, the crowd broke up into small groups, and the danger of another outbreak was considered slight.

Early today the bodies of Shipp and Smith still swung from the tree. The hangers, announcing they would be left there until noon as a warning.

Deeter was fatally shot Wednesday night as he sat in his parked automobile with Miss Mary Ball, 19, of Marion. Four Negroes appeared and after ordering him to throw up his hands, shot him four times. One of the assailants then attacked the girl.

Deeter was brought to the Grant county hospital where he died yesterday afternoon.

Shipp, Smith and Cameron were arrested by police at their homes early yesterday and Sullivan arrested in an automobile late in the day.

Rumors of possible mob violence were heard in Marion yesterday and authorities said last night they had learned the crowd assembled at Fairmount, Deeter's home town, shortly after dark they left for the county seat, 600 strong, and their automobiles surrounded the jail building.

While preparations were made to repulse the attack, Sheriff Jacob Campbell called for assistance from surrounding cities and large posse of officers responded but arrived too late to prevent the lynchings.

For a short time the maddened throng was driven back by tear gas but using water to counteract the gas's effects, they successfully stormed the jail, and proceeded to take the two Negroes.

An attempt to burn the body of Shipp hanging 20 feet in the air failed when a fire built underneath failed to reach high enough.

PIPE LINE TO CROSS COUNTY

28 Mile Stretch Will Be Used To Convey Oil From Toledo

LISBON, Aug. 8.—Preliminary surveys are now being made by the Gulf Refining Co. for the construction of a 28-mile pipe line through Columbiana county. It has not been announced when work on the new line will begin. It has been said that the line will extend from the Ohio river, from a point near East Liverpool to Toledo.

The line will follow a diagonal line through the county from Liverpool township, northwesterly through St. Clair, Madison, Center, Hanover, West and leave the county in Section 31, West township.

In Wayne and Madison townships, the line will be laid midway between Gavers and West Point. In the entire 28-mile distance, the line will not vary in its course much more than one-half mile, it is said. It is probable that a pumping station will be located in this county.

As soon as the easements have been obtained, construction of the line will begin, the pipe being laid in the ground beneath the plow line.

Babies Rented By Women In Russia

They are demanded by women who want a preferred place in the lines in front of stores in trading row, Moscow, where cloth, overcoats and other articles of which there is a limited supply, are rationed for sale by the government.

The women shoppers merely regard the children they rent as a necessity, the Society's agent wrote and quickly dump them into the arms of their peasant mothers when they are through feigning motherhood and have made their purchases.

MOVIES

"ALIAS FRENCH GERTIE"
At The Grand

A realistic background of gangsterdom as it really is and not as illustrated in fictional narratives is the outstanding characteristic in the plot of "Alias French Gertie," the feature picture being shown at the Grand tonight and Saturday.

Bebe Daniels, she of "Rio Rita" and "Love Comes Along" fame, is the star of the production with Ben Lyon playing opposite her as the leading male for the first time.

The picture is replete with thrilling action scenes, laid in a crack atmosphere of realism.

MOVIE-TONE FOLLIES
At The State

A romantic story of youthful love, spectacular musical numbers, hundreds of beautiful dancing girls and an all star cast make "The New Movie-Tone Follies of 1936" which comes to the State theater an outstanding production since the advent of audible pictures.

It surpasses its predecessor, "The Movie-Tone Follies of 1929," in all departments with a greater cast and a story which would stand on its own merits without the elaborate trimmings provided by the numerous musical numbers.

El Brendel's comedy antics; Frank Richardson's singing and Marjorie White's singing and humorous actions are outstanding events in the Movie-Tone Follies, playing at the State. Brendel, noted for his comedy roles in numerous other productions, has been in better pictures and has displayed his talents to better advantage but in the Follies he is supported by Miss White and Richardson in headline fashion.

The cast includes such favorites as Brendel, Miss White, Richardson, Noel Francis, William Collier, Jr., Miriam Seegar, J. M. Kerrigan, Yola D. Avril, Huntley Gordon, Paul Nicholson and many others, well known on screen and stage.

William K. Wes, author of many Broadway musical successes, wrote the story and the dialog. Benjamin Stoloff, who directed the highly successful "Happy Days," "Girl From Havana" and "Speakeasy," handled the megaphone.

The ensemble numbers were staged by Max Scheck, Maurice L. Kusell and Danny Dare, all well known on Broadway as outstanding dance directors. They were placed in active competition with one another in this production and the result is the most spectacular series of numbers ever seen on any screen.

Officers' Eyes Not Defective; Torrid Wave Not To Blame

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Anyhow, patrolman John Liptak is glad it wasn't the heat that made him see three hot water bottles where first he saw one.

He'd just been discussing heat prostrations with a friend, when he saw Mrs. Mary Paister stumble and fall. "Another one," he muttered as he rushed to help her to her feet. As Mrs. Paister arose, a hot water bottle fell from under her apron. Then another fell. Officer Liptak mopped his brow. Then a third hot water bottle tumbled to the street. Liptak gasped, he was just about to call for an ambulance with two stretchers when something began to trickle from one of the bottles.

Five minutes later Mrs. Paister was in the lockup charged with totting moonshine.

Soldier Returns Home To Find Self Mourned As Dead; Held In Prisoners' Camp In Germany

DENVER, Aug. 8.—William (Bill) Kelley, 37, a member of the 132nd infantry, thirty-third division, A. E. F., now living in Denver, knows how it feels to be officially dead, to have a bonafide grave with a headstone on it and to have a gold star in the court house back home in Pascoe, Neb.

But the only regrettable event in that series of eerie experiences is to have one's brave little mother, a widow since his third year, suffer all the heartaches of the Gold Star mothers, according to Kelley. Kelley was killed officially in an engagement in the Argonne Woods which took place Oct. 9, 1918. He has his death certificate signed by General Pershing. The death certificate together with a letter signed by Abel Davis, colonel, was received by Kelley's mother, Mrs. Fannie Cooney Kelley, at Burchard, Neb. It was written "Somewhere in France," on November 10, 1918.

The letter follows:
"On Oct. 9, 1918, our regiment, together with troops of other nations, took part in an engagement. Your son, William Kelley, Pvt. Co. E, was killed on the battlefield, and from personal accounts of his comrades, I may vouch that he died a hero. The engagement terminated in a hand-to-hand fight in which all our men took part, your son among them."

"The officers and men of the regiment mourn his loss and extend their condolence to you. He had not died in vain. In future engagements in which this regiment may take part, your son's gallant heroic conduct shall be our inspiration to carry us to victory."

On December 18, 1918, Mrs. Kelley, back in her little Nebraska home, was gazing sorrowfully out into the street when she saw a messenger boy approaching her door. Her hands trembled. It must be Pat or Jack, this time, she thought. She has sent three sons "over there."

This is what she read: "Your son, Private William Kelley, officially reported released from German prison camp at Rastatt and returned to France in good health."

Kiwanians Win 7-6 Decision Over Mullins In Thrilling Game

Clubmen Stage Rally To Take Lead In City League Softball Race

THE KIWANIS CLUB appears destined for titular honors in the Salem Class A softball league and unless an upset of the most unexpected-for variety, occurs the clubmen will clash with the Salem Hardware, first half league leaders, for the season's championship flag in the "little big series" the week after next.

Kiwanian mushballers advanced to this superior rating as a result of the most thrilling softball battle viewed at Centennial park in many a season. It was the occasion of the club's sixth consecutive victory of the second half with the hitherto undefeated Mullins Manufacturing corporation combine its victim by a close, 7-6, margin.

The game went into an extra-inning, both teams being deadlocked at the close of the regulation seven at 6-all. The affair was thrilling all the way with Mullins leading throughout the early innings after taking the lead in 5th.

Lutes Wins Ninth

Arnold Lutes, hurling for the winning team, registered his ninth victory of the year and should have won the decision by at least a four-run margin but for two misplays in the first frame which spotted the losers to a 4-0 lead. Mullins earned only two of its runs, homers clouted by Jimmy Fitzpatrick and Judy Myers, but even these were of the questionable variety.

Mullins started out sensationally, first two batters getting on with Texas league singles. An outfield error by F. Schuller let in two runners following which two more body-maker performers crossed the plate. Kiwanians came back strong in their half of the fourth, George Morris claximating activities during the frame with a homerun with Joe Kelley on the sacks to reduce the Mullins lead to a single run.

Lutes retired Mullins' batters in order for three straight innings but in the fifth, Myers and Fitzpatrick clouted hard drives into left center that went for homers. These runs were the last scored by the manufacturers in the game.

Kiwanians Rally

Kiwanians knotted the count in their half of the fifth inning, combining two walks, an error and two hits to register three runs. Both teams went scoreless in the sixth and seventh.

Mullins had a chance to step ahead in the first of the eighth, getting two men on with two out but a fly to the outfield ended the opportunity. Two singles, the telling blow being delivered by Mac McCarthy, scored the winning marker for the Kiwanis with two gone in the eighth.

The largest crowd of the season, witnessed contest, it being estimated that approximately 500 persons jammed their way to the field for the affair. The Kiwanians need only to trim the Penn-Ohio Power and Light team in their final encounter of the second half schedule next week and the championship crown will automatically be awarded to them.

The club team is hoped far superior to the power combine and only the season's greatest upset can keep it from continuing through the schedule undefeated.

Hit of Morris and sensational catches in left field by Wink Miller were outstanding features of last night's fracas. Both teams hit the sphere hard and often and there was plenty of action all the way. Mike Sartick, Mullins pitcher, was wild in the pinches, walked four men and had three wild pitches.

BERG AWARDED DECISION OVER KID CHOCOLATE

Verdict In Thriller At New York Goes To English Boxer

BY ALLAN J. GOULD

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—A battered little bundle of ebony fighting machinery sat huddled in his corner at the Polo grounds last night after 10 of the most furious rounds of slam-bang boxing New York has witnessed in many a moon. As bellerin' Joe Humphries walked toward him, white official slips in hand, Kid Chocolate leapt up in anticipation of being proclaimed the winner, only to stumble back and fall into a scabbing heap in his corner as Humphries suddenly checked himself turned and elevated the hand of Jackie (Kid) Berg in token of triumph.

In those few dramatic moments, pulse-stirring to a crowd of 25,000 that had been thrilled by a sensational battle of the fifth fellows, the winning streak that Kid Chocolate appeared to have kept intact was brought to a sudden end, snapped after two years of unbroken victory by the lean little English whirlwind from White Chapel.

Entirely on the strength of his tireless aggressiveness, Berg won by a two-to-one vote of the officials. The British lightweight received the verdict of Referee Patsy Haley, grey-haired little veteran, and one of the judges, Joe Agnello. The vote of Charles P. Mathison, the second judge, went to the Cuban featherweight.

Crowd Disappears

So close was the battle and so partisan the sympathies of the crowd that the decision, plus the announcer's uncertainty, provoked a big demonstration of disapproval. Chocolate, led tearfully from the ring, received an ovation that drowned out the cheers for Berg. So heated was the scene that impromptu fights broke out around the ringside and in the stands of the National league ball park. It was fully five minutes before order was restored by the police.

Among the ringside experts, a sharp division of opinion existed, although a slight majority appeared to regard the decision as fair. On the Associated Press score-sheet, Chocolate was given six rounds and Berg four but the margin in several was so close that there was plenty of ground for the wide range of opinion. Chocolate seemed to have the edge in the first three rounds, as well as the sixth, seventh and eighth, Berg held margins in the fourth, fifth, ninth and tenth.

Chocolate landed the cleaner, more effective blows. He had Berg somewhat groggy with a sensational attack in the third round, the most exciting of the entire fight. The flashing, ebony keed was also the faster, better boxer whenever he could keep away from the crowd, mauling Englishman. Berg, however, was unflinchingly the aggressor. His punches were seldom damaging but they were more persistent and landed oftener. This forcing, plus the fact that Berg unquestionably made the stronger finish, apparently swung the decision in his favor.

THE DAY In Sports

KIWANIS WINS TITLE FANS SEE THRILLER

APPROXIMATELY 500 FANS, there may have been more, saw the year's thriller in mushball competition when they witnessed the 7-6 victory of the Kiwanis club over Mullins at Centennial park last night. It was a battle between two outstanding softball aggregations with the winning outfit holding only a slight edge by virtue of superior pitching and ability to get hits when hits mean runs.

As a result of the victory only the Penn-Ohio team can keep the Kiwanians from the second half championship so by the club's partisans and fandom in general, the crown is already considered in the bag and arrangements are going forward for the titular series between the Kiwanis and the Salem Hardware, first half champs.

The large attendance clearly showed how softball has taken hold in Salem sporting activities. There was more enthusiasm displayed by backers of the two principles than there is at many a major league contest with plenty of good bat-ball on the part of both teams. Mushball, apparently, is in Salem to stay.

Attention will soon be concentrated on the selection of an all-city team from league players. Fans have contributed their selections for the past two seasons and this method, proven to be the most satisfactory, will be repeated. Any who already have made their choice can put their say into the matter by handing teams to either Joe Kelley at the Memorial building or dropping them into The News editorial rooms.

SOMETHING NEW in the line of golfing tournaments is planned by Carl Juergens of the Quaker City golf driving course, east of the city. It is a municipal driving contest which Juergens plans to hold at his grounds within the next few weeks. He plans to assemble the city's leading long-distance sharks and have them vie for honors and has also extended an invitation to the Kiwanis club to hold a tournament limited to members of that organization.

The invitation sent to the club has been turned over to the Kiwanis athletic committee for recommendation and it is believed that members will hold the event there soon. It was submitted to B. L. Flick, president of the club.

If the municipal tournament for drivers is greeted with success then Juergens plans to sponsor a district or inter-county competition. Further plans for the affair will be announced later.

Athletics Continue Far Ahead Of Field In American Circuit; Dodgers, Cubs Win In National

Some things in the world are hard to understand. Wheat is selling at its lowest level since 1914, but a loaf of bread seems to cost just as much as ever.

Bridal song: "I ain't gonna work no more."

The league-leading Philadelphia and Brooklyn Robins were bowling along today at a pace that boded no good for the clubs that are doing the chasing in the current pennant races. When a club that already is leading the pack by six and one-half games hands its nearest pursuer an artistic beating to stretch its advantage to seven and a half, the superstition is that the team in front is going to prove pretty hard to overhaul.

That is exactly what the Athletics did yesterday at Shibe park to the Washington Senators, 4-1, thanks to Jimmy Fox's 31st home run of the season in the sixth inning with two on base.

Pulling up on the Senators, the third place Yankees, still hitting and still dangerous, won their second straight victory over the Red Sox, 5-1, principally because of timely triples by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig and the steady pitching of Ed Wells.

Cubs Trim Cards

The hard fighting Cubs just managed to keep the Robins from increasing their three and one-half game lead when they nosed out the Cardinals, 6-5. Chick Hafey, Cardinal slugger, drove in all the home team's runs with his 20th homer of the season with one on in the first and a double in the eighth with the bases loaded but his mates were less effective against the slants of Osborn and Root.

For the second time in two days, the Robins beat out the Pirates, this time by a 6-4 count. This wound up the abbreviated series.

For most of the National league clubs, the Pittsburgh outfit is anything but an easy mark but the records seem to show that Uncle Wilbert Robinson's clan has their number. The Robins now have beaten the Pirates 11 times and lost to them on only four occasions, having

FILM ACTRESS, DIRECTOR WED

Dolores Del Rio Becomes Bride Of Art Director
In Old Mission

SANTA BARBARA, CAL., Aug. 8.—Dolores Del Rio, Mexican film star, became the bride of Cedric Gibbons, studio art director, before the altar of the 150-year-old Franciscan mission after obstacles threatening to postpone the ceremony were dissolved.

The wedding was as simple as the old adobe church they chose as a setting. While the couple knelt at the altar and the Rev. Father Augustine pronounced the ceremony, the bride's mother, Mrs. J. H. Asunsolo, and Ben Glazier, the best man, stood by. The only other members of the party, Mr. and Mrs. Don Alvarado, John Russo and Mrs. Sidney Tolia, mixed in the chapel with several dozen tourists, who were visiting the historic building and watched, not recognizing the couple.

Miss Del Rio was dressed in a gray suit, close fitting gray hat and gray gloves. She carried a bouquet of orchids and gardenias. Gibbons wore a blue business suit.

At the marriage license bureau the actress gave her age as 24, and stated it was her second marriage. Gibbons is 40 and also had been married once. Miss Del Rio's first husband, Jaime Del Rio, died while abroad last year after they were divorced.

Because she had been divorced some question arose yesterday as to whether the ceremony could be performed in the old mission as planned. The actress obtained a letter from the Rev. Father Stack, of her Hollywood parish, however, which pointed out her first husband had died, and forestalled the possible refusal at the mission.

Old Paris Theatre Undergoes Repairs

The famous old Theatre Odeon is undergoing extensive repairs and is being partially reconstructed in preparation for the coming season.

This old theatre was founded in Paris in 1797 and has twice burned down, being rebuilt the last time in 1819 and reorganized.

It is to have a new lighting system, through the present alterations, and a number of modern improvements will be made backstage.

The best conservation laws are engraved on the heart, not in statute books, according to Carlos Avery, president of the American Game Protective Association.

Today's Pattern

The printed frock continues in popularity, and fall style showings present exquisite designs, smaller and darker than those used all summer. The model sketched today has distinctive lines in bodice and skirt that are decidedly slenderizing, youthful and extremely smart. The flared cape collar and tucked bodice add softness and grace.

Pattern 1999 makes up beautifully in cotton or flat crepe, voile, georgette or chiffon velvet. Leading colors are green, black, brown and the wine tones. Women who are no longer slim will find this model most becoming.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch material.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Fashion demands now that radiators be invisible. In the newest buildings they are sunk in the wall, and the row of grills permitting the heat to flood into the room are scarcely to be seen. But if the radiator is already a permanent and immovable fixture of the room, then there are ever so many ways of concealing its real nature.

Not only aesthetic demands, but practical reasons make it rather desirable to envelop the radiator in some covering. The specially made radiator covers come equipped with water pan inside so as to impart some moisture to the air that is steam unheated—very beneficial to furniture, as well as to those who find steam heat unpleasantly irritating.

But its appearance recommends itself mostly to the housekeeper with an eye for harmonious decoration. The right kind of cover can transform unattractive steam-pipes into a handsome console, or a window seat or a good-looking stand for books or flowers.

Metal covers are most practical, of course, and they are now being finished to resemble any kind of wood desired—oak, walnut, mahogany—or, if painted furniture is used in the room, the radiator cover can be finished to blend with the rest of the color scheme.

Now, while radiators are not in use, a good time to have them measured and fitted for their winter covering. It should fit well—cover the radiator generously. The grills or openings should be in front.

Language Courses Offered In Spain

MADRID, Aug. 8.—The Central University is soon to start a series of summer courses in Spanish for foreign students. Communications have been sent to American motion picture producers indicating the advantages these courses offer to actors wishing to become proficient in the language for Spanish talks. It is expected that a few at least will enroll, especially since it is known that the American producers have decided to favor Castilian Spanish in preference to the language as spoken in other parts of Spain and in Latin America, where more or less considerable variations in accent and in grammatical construction are noticeable.

The university authorities further point out in their communications that actors coming to Spain to study the language will also gain a first-hand idea of the Spanish people and their customs, which, they claim, Hollywood productions do not always picture as they really are.

An umbrella has been invented that will attach itself to the arm. It is not, however, endowed with the power of selecting the right owner.

Bellefontaine, Ohio Has Oldest Concrete Street in America

Thirty-eight years old, and still on the job.

That's the story of America's first concrete street.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, built it—"way back in 1892.

Yet Bellefontaine's first concrete street on Court House Square, like the many other concrete streets it has built since, continues to meet all traffic requirements.

Modern highway builders from near and far go to inspect this veteran pavement; but they no longer marvel at its sturdy service. For they know that in hundreds of cities and towns from one end of the country to the other, concrete streets have proved that they possess the same enduring strength they have shown in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

PEONIES SHOULD BE TRANSPLANTED SOON

The season is now approaching for the transplanting of the peony into its new quarters. This should be done early in September when the growth has been formed for next year's development, according to Alex Laurie, specialist in horticulture at the Ohio Experiment Station. The plants should be set two to three inches deep. This depth is essential to prevent freezing and heaving during the winter. A mulch of straw or peat moss is desirable.

The soil required for the maximum development of the peony should be somewhat heavy in character, especially if quality of bloom is desired. A thorough preparation is necessary because of the deep rooting growth. Stable manure is considered the most efficient of fertilizers, but should be used in a well rotted state. Additions of superphosphate and potash should be made in the spring.

The propagation of the peony is a comparatively simple process. Seeds may be sown or the fleshy rootstock divided, but because of the variability and hybrid character of the plants, seeds are rarely used, except to produce new varieties. It is best to sow the seed immediately after maturity, in sandy soil, about two inches deep. Soaking in water previous to planting facilitates germination. Upon the appearance of the young seedlings above ground, shading of lath should be provided and the young plants kept in the seedbeds for one year. Propagation by root division should be done at the time of transplanting. The roots should be dug and placed in shade for several days. Then they may be cut in pieces, each containing two or three buds.

Failure to bloom may be attributed to: Too deep planting, late frosts in the spring, Botrytis rot, lack of phosphorus and potash in the soil, too much shade, or nematodes at the root.

WHEAT MAKES GOOD POULTRY FEED

Successful feeding of growing pullets and layers permits a wide choice of grains so that cost and availability may well determine the one or two grains to be selected for the bulk of the ration. At this time wheat in many sections is more available and less expensive than other grains. Hence the cost of producing poultry and eggs can be reduced by a liberal use of wheat in poultry rations. Wheat contains much the same quality and quantity of nutrients as corn with the exception that yellow corn contains a considerable amount of vitamin A. However, this vitamin can be supplied by a liberal use of green feed, or high quality legume hay, or alfalfa meal, or leaf meal.

In sections of the country, particularly the Pacific Coast, where wheat is usually more abundant than other grains, it has been a frequent practice to use wheat exclusively for the whole grain part of the ration. One of the chief reasons for the popularity of corn for poultry feeding in the Central States has been its availability at less cost than wheat. Chickens like wheat and will usually eat it in preference to corn or any of the other grains. A variety of feed mixtures and methods of feeding may be employed with equal effect.

When it is desired to feed grain and mash separately, wheat may be used exclusively for the whole grain, according to D. C. Kennard, in charge of Poultry Investigations at the Ohio Experiment Station. In addition to this almost any of the mash mixtures intended to be fed with grain may be used. Or, in case of home mixed or made-to-order mash mixtures, the wheat middlings and bran in the mash may be replaced by coarsely ground wheat, although it is usually well to retain 5 to 10 per cent of the bran to lighten and improve the texture of the feed.

An all-mash feed mixture may be composed of coarsely ground wheat, 40, coarsely ground yellow corn 20, cats, whole or finely ground 15, wheat bran 7, meat scraps 10, dried skim milk or buttermilk 2.5, alfalfa meal or leaf meal 5, and salt 0.5, oyster shells or limestone grit to be fed separately.

When more wheat is to be used in the ration, or if other changes are made in the feed or method of feeding, much precaution should be exercised if the birds are in heavy production; otherwise a serious loss of production may result. Such changes are best made while the pullets are on the range or soon after they are on the range or soon after they are transferred to the laying house, and certainly before many begin to lay; with hens, these changes are best made when many of them stop laying and begin to molt.

Early Plowing Cuts Cost of Wheat Crop

Early plowing of wheat ground and thorough preparation of the seedbed is a distinct help in producing low cost wheat. With wheat selling considerably below the dollar mark many farmers will not be particularly enthusiastic in putting out their crop this fall, as expenses cannot be cut very much. Where wheat is fertilized for the following year crop the amount of fertilizer per acre can not safely be reduced to any extent. But every extra bushel brought about by early plowing and preparation is obtained with very little expense and helps materially to bring the cost per bushel of the entire crop under the dollar mark.

M. A. Bachtell, in charge of the outlying farms of the Ohio Experiment Station, reports that this year at the Northeast Test Farm, located at Strongsville, the highest yield of wheat was 35 bushels per acre obtained on land plowed early and kept worked until seeding time. This yield was even better than that obtained where sweet clover was plowed down late and the

BRINGING UP FATHER

Large Rattlesnake Killed By Woman

NORFOLK, CONN., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Benjamin Brown drove over to Canaan Mountain to meet her husband, supervisor of a reservoir property there, and promptly met with a rattlesnake. A few minutes later she presented the snake, dead to her husband. It was five feet, four inches long, and had twelve rattlers. Rattles are common in the wilds here but Mrs. Brown's catch is a record-breaker.

RAIL TERMINALS IN BOSTON WILL RANK WITH BEST

Completion Of Station Scheduled Soon; Cost Million Dollars

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—With the near completion in the remodeling of the South Station and the recent reconstruction of the North Station, this city's terminals will again rank with the finest railroad stations in the world.

The North Station recently completed is up to date in every respect and houses the finest indoor arena in the East.

Likewise, the complete remodeling of the South station, which has been going on during the past few months, is progressing rapidly and is expected to be finished within the next few months. The total expenditure was estimated to run well over a million dollars.

The great train shed, one of the engineering wonders of the world 30 years ago was demolished and very little of the old steel structure remains. The old "midway," which was open to the elements has been transformed into a modern railroad terminal concourse, a solid wall separating it from the track platforms, and its floor of Terrazzo squares set in brass frames, its indirect lighting, and an attractive row of modern stores is some of the work done.

The changes were brought about without any hindrance to commuters, which moved in and out of the terminal daily without a hitch in spite of the transformation which was gradually brought about in the terminal itself.

The ticket offices are of the most modern type. The track and station indicators are practically the same type used in the Grand Central Terminal in New York, and at the top is an illuminated sign displaying the track numbers, visible from any part of the concourse.

The information booth is located in a prominent position on the concourse, on top of which is a four-sided clock. The construction of the booth is highly ornamental, marble with bronze and plate glass trimmings.

The remainder of the main floor is given over to up to date lunch rooms, barber shops, smoking and waiting rooms, newspaper and cigar stands, and the like.

Submarine Crews Will Study Use Of New Undersea "Lung"

NEW LONDON, CONN., July 8.—

The "lung" that Lieut. C. B. Momen, U. S. N., designed as a means of escape from disabled submarines, is to become so familiar to crews of undersea craft that escape will be possible from any depth except that which is so great that it would crush vessel and occupants. Lieut. Momen has designed, and private interests have built at the naval submarine base here a great tank in which the sailors are to be trained in the use of the "lung."

Rising nearly 200 feet above the surface of the Thames river here is a structure housing the Momen tank. Its sides glisten day and night. Sunlight or shadow cause the aluminum paint to glow. At night flood lights splash against its sides, and a great aviation beacon sends its arms of light splashing against the sky, to be seen far out at sea as well as for miles about the land.

Only Structure of Kind

The structure is the only one of its sort on earth. In it submarine crews will receive instruction in the use of a device that was tested first in the Potomac river off Morgantown, Md., and later at Key West, Fla. The water section of the tank is ten feet across and 150 feet high. In the tank will be placed water of the saltness of the sea, heated, artificially and filtered, to protect the health of the seamen who use it.

Under the plans of Lieut. Momen, who is stationed here as an expert in submarine safety, devices the beginner can enter the water with a "lung" attached, by means of a ladder that drops 15 feet from the top of the tank.

As training progress a man may work at a depth of 8 feet, of 50 feet, of 100 feet. The tank has "escape locks" on the sides, and at the bottom. The bottom lock leads to a compartment that furnishes conditions identical with those obtaining in a submarine resting on the bottom of the sea—130 feet down. This has a standing hatch, and an entrance or exit that may be used in perfect safety.

Supervise Training

Training of the men is to be supervised by instructors who will travel in diving bells or chambers suspended into the water. These devices may be moved up and down or sideways.

Actual training is to be conducted by the crew of the submarine S-4. Those men are permanently assigned to duty at the naval base here, and are experts in the use of the "lung," having worked it through all the tests in the past from the time Lieut. Momen submitted the apparatus to a special naval board back in 1928 when the navy was worried by submarine fatalities.

Preliminary tests of the great tank seem to have been successful. Whether the navy department actually takes possession of the structure will depend on tests that will start here in August. The same routine will be followed as in the case of a navy vessel. Dignitaries will come here from Washington and other points, and see the thing through, reports will be made and recommendations drawn up. And after that the regular work in the tank starts, to continue the year around.

Tests Successful

Tests of the "lung" proved it to be successful within the limits which the human body can stand. That is down to the pressure which the sea water exerts at a depth of about 350 feet. The "lung" is a light device similar in shape and size to a gas mask. A small clip, resembling a clothes-pin fits over the user's nose to prevent inhaling water and to compel the user to breathe through a mouthpiece connected by means of two tubes to a rubber composition bag containing oxygen.

One of these tubes is used for inhaling from the bag and the other by means of check-valves, conducts the exhaled air back into a special compartment containing chemical matter, which acts as a purifier. The name of this chemical is withheld.

According to the Navy executives here, the efficacy of the lungs depends upon the maintenance at all times of the equality of the external and the internal body pressure, regardless of the varying external pressures of the water. This is controlled by putting an air outlet in the bottom of the bag.

As to the tank: A door leading to the inside of the tank is unlocked and will open, permitting the water to rise to the top of the door opening. The entrapped air above the level makes an air space in which the men hold their heads to breathe. When the men are ready to go, they pass a buoy out on the water and let it float to the surface of the water at the top of the tank. The rope attached to this is marked by wooden balls each ten feet apart, and along this rope the men can slide to the surface.

Determine Location

With these wooden balls, or markers, the men are able to determine their location with reference to the surface and are able to stop at times to allow the effects of the pressure to dissipate. Thus the men avoid against getting "bends" or caisson disease.

As the training course is now planned the beginners descends the ladder to within 15 feet of the top. The next step is at this lock 8 feet below the surface. Here the men will learn to use lock and lung. ... training at the 50-foot lock will teach the men to decompress themselves. And in the bottom of the tank they will learn the art of freeing themselves from a disabled submarine lying on the bed of the ocean.

The instructor is to use a diving suit. He is an expert diver. At the start the men will go through their training one at a time. Later they will operate in the strength of a full crew.

Submarine crews stationed here immediately found a new thrill in the idea of going through the training work, and the plan has been almost the sole topic of conversation at the great submarine base.

It may a sad mind forge a merry face.

Mann Hurls Charges And Warns: Retaliation Comes At Once

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The old intra-party dispute over the handling of southern patronage broke out with renewed vigor Thursday as Republican party executives gathered here to settle the long pending controversy over the chairmanship of the national committee.

Horace A. Mann, Washington lawyer, who managed President Hoover's 1923 southern campaign, warned administration forces in general and Postmaster General Brown in particular that his "little band" of followers below the Mason-Dixon line would stand for no further "outside interference" and henceforth would conduct southern political affairs in their own way.

A statement by Mann, explaining the purposes of last week's Savannah, Georgia, meeting of his followers, range with such phrases as "designing political high-jackers" and "interloping element of carpet baggers."

Postmaster General Brown replied to the ultimatum with the statement that he belonged to no committee with power to dispense federal patronage throughout the south and that his sole purpose in setting up advisory committees in four southern states was to "get the best possible postal service, not subject to barter."

He said he handled only postoffice appointments, that other cabinet officers selected men for their departments, and that the Savannah meeting of the "eight disgruntled men" would not make the "slightest difference" to him.

NAVY TO STORE EXPLOSIVES IN DESERT CENTER

New Method Planned For Safe-Guarding Of U. S. People

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Uncle Sam is building his newest, naval station in the middle of a desert. A $3,500,000 affair, it is rearing itself out in western Nevada on the sand plains. After September 30, when it is completed, this new station will house thousands of pounds of high explosives, far from civilization. When completed, the giant storehouse will form one of the safest ammunition depots in the world, engineers estimated.

The depot will form a little city all by itself, isolated in the desert, but with a lake nearby for swimming and boating and all uses which a small contingent of naval officers stationed at the post desire. Its nearest civilized neighbor will be Reno, Nevada, 150 miles away.

In spite of its isolation, however, the little city, to be known as the Naval Ammunition Depot, Hawthorne, Nevada, is but five and a half miles from a single railway spur, thus making possible communication with and transportation to and from the outside world a matter of comparative ease.

When completed, the station will look like a wide expanse of sand dotted with half buried, giant eggs, the tops or domes of sunken ammunition magazines.

Due to the high explosive quality of the magazines to be stored in separate plots, in groups of seven. Explosion of one group, engineers estimate, will not cause detonation of others because of this separation.

The new project came into being as a result of an effort to minimize danger to civilized communities from explosion of high explosives. The Lake Denmark, N. J. explosion in July, 1926, with its accompanying destruction and loss of life emphasized anew the necessity of isolating ammunition depots, and in spite of the discomforts to personnel involved, it was decided to locate a depot for the storing of surplus explosives left over from the war at such a spot as was chosen in Nevada.

The new depot was designed to serve the Pacific coast, and its site was chosen after naval experts inspected sites in California, Utah and Nevada and recommended the location finally used.

Rainfall averages less than three inches a year at the Hawthorne site of the new depot. Soil is well drained, and firm, and the sand and gravel supply was found to be ample.

A busy mining center used to be located near what is now the new naval reservation, but now has become virtually deserted.

The depot project involved construction of 145 permanent buildings, a laundry central heating and boiler plant, administration buildings, residences and barracks.

An auditorium was provided for recreational purposes, a school will be built, and repair shops, storehouse, fire station, and a refrigerating plant.

AVIATION FOR ALL VISIONED

Would Bring Instruction Within Reach Of Many People

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In an endeavor to bring aviation training within the reach of the average working man and woman, the American Society for Promotion of Aviation, will undertake an intensive campaign of organizing civilian clubs in every community throughout the country. Immediate work under the direction of skilled organizers of the society will start in New York City and vicinity and plans for a rapid expansion of the work throughout New England and Eastern States have been made.

The work of the society is being supported by the manufacturers of light airplanes who realize that new markets must be created to absorb the surplus supply of airplanes that are being manufactured and which are accumulating daily in warehouses. Under the club plan sponsored by the society individuals will be encouraged to take up flying as a sport rather than as a profession and through group training instructions will be made available at one-third the cost of the prevailing rate.

"An unfortunate feature in the development of aviation in America," said Thomas L. Hill, president of the A. S. P. A., "is the fact that hundreds of thousands of young men and women who decide to become active flyers and in so doing would become potential purchasers of airplanes, have been unable to learn flying owing to the prohibitive cost. Aircraft manufacturers are now realizing that exceptional measures must be taken to get young America to the air as practical pilots. Extensive surveys made by the society have proven that the club plan is not only practical but has been instrumental in creating the sale of more airplanes than any other agency in aviation. I confidently expect that within a year, the A. S. P. A. will successfully organize over three thousand civilian flying clubs which should lead to the eventual purchase of over fifteen thousand light training airplanes within the next two years."

Various Occupations Attract Students At Alliance College

Teaching Still Tops All Vocations Listed At Mount Union

Medicine as a profession shows an increase in popularity among Mt. Union college students. Fifty-four men and one woman list occupations for which they are studying at college while teaching leads the list with 83 names.

The compilation of the occupations to which students in Mt. Union are looking forward affords an interesting study, Dean J. B. Bowman said in making his report to President W. H. McMaster of the college.

Recent surveys show the 500 students enrolled in Mt. Union contemplate 41 different occupations. Women students are listed in 19 are slated as preparing for 29 selections. Senior women students listed only eight occupations show that the number became considerably narrowed as students advance in college work. Men showed almost the same percentage of decrease, as senior men listed only 13 choices.

Eight leading occupations show the following figures: teaching, 183; 132 of these are women; medicine, 55, but one of which is a woman student; law, 47; business, 42; engineering 21; ministry 20; chemistry, 14; journalism, 10.

Art, the ninth occupation listed, attracted more women than any other except teaching having listed eight women and no men.

Music as a professional career attracted one man and five women, the lone man being a member of the freshman class.

Laboratory technique claims the interest of four women, one from each year, but holds no interest for men. Other occupations listing women are social personnel work 4; merchandising 3; library 3; Y. W. C. A. 2; kindergarten 2; interior decorator 1; medical research 1; religious education 1; missionary 1; and interpreter 1.

Other occupations selected by men students show almost an entirely different list and include architecture 4; merchandising 1, as compared with three women; dentistry 4; Y. M. C. A. 1; accounting 3; geology 2; banking 2; technical work 2; pharmacy 2; aviation 2; metallurgy 1; author 1; traffic manager 1 (senior); forestry 1; photography 1; contracting 1; archaeology 1; and funeral director 1.

SALOON LEAGUE AT CONVENTION

Democratic Attitude In Presidential Year Forms Topic

LITTLE POINT SABLE, MICH. Aug. 8.—Executives of the Anti-Saloon League of America, gathered here in conference, already are preparing for another wet and dry fight in the 1932 presidential election.

The Democratic party, they concede, will then be stronger than it was in 1928 and in the words of Dr. F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the league, the chances of having a Democratic nominee friendly in prohibition "are not very hopeful."

Gathered here for the opening session of their conference in a little church almost hidden by sand dunes, on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, the league executives from all over the United States heard reports predicting few reversals for the cause of prohibition in the fall elections.

Although those elections are the immediate concern of the league, principal alarm was expressed over the activities within Democratic ranks thus far in advance of the next presidential election.

To counteract those activities, Dr. McBride urged accumulation of a bigger war chest, strengthening of state organizations and planning of a definite offensive against the wets.

"I am of the opinion, Dr. McBride said, "that the time is overripe to go to the public with a challenging call and program. A more adequate fund for a more adequate program is demanded if we are to meet the needs of the day."

What America needs is more wild life in the fields and streams and less in the city, says Carlos Avery, president of the American Game Protective Association.

Ice Cream "Wells" To Be Developed

WALDEN, COLO., Aug. 8.—The "ice cream" wells near Walden are to be developed for commercial purposes.

The two freak wells produce a tremendous volume of 98 per cent carbon-monoxide gas, which in solidified form is the product commercially known as dry ice.

The temperature of the gas as it comes from the well is around 130 degrees below zero. The crude oil coming out of the well is frozen and resembles lemon sherbet in appearance.

Under the development of the Continental Oil company, and the Dry Ice corporation of New York a new corporation will be formed and controlled jointly.

If preliminary experiments now under way are satisfactory, it is expected a plant capable of producing 60 tons of dry ice daily will be erected at Walden.

PRAISES OWA-TON-NA WHEN IT ROUTS RHEUMATISM

"Before Taking This Fine Old Indian Remedy, I Could Not Walk at All," Says Mrs. Ellen Gibson

"Before taking Owa-Ton-Na, I could not walk at all," said Mrs. Ellen Gibson, 422 5th St., S. W., Canton, Ohio, telling of the remarkable way in which Owa-Ton-Na brought relief. "My whole body seemed shattered and wrecked from the terrible pains in my limbs. I know it will be hard for anybody to believe that Owa-Ton-Na has done for me what it has but it just seemed to go right to the root of my trouble and eliminate it. My appetite picked up and food digested properly. Indigestion and those terrible attacks of gas and sourness are a thing of the past. Headaches, backaches and dizzy spells have disappeared. My bowels act regularly every day, something which they hadn't done for a long time."

down and I have gained in strength. Is it any wonder that I am so enthusiastic about Owa-Ton-Na when it has given me such wonderful relief? I gladly praise it to other sufferers and know that if they give it a good fair trial, they will be as well pleased with it as I am."

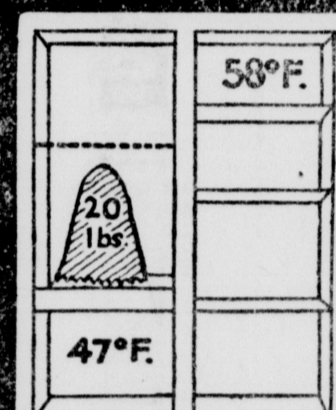

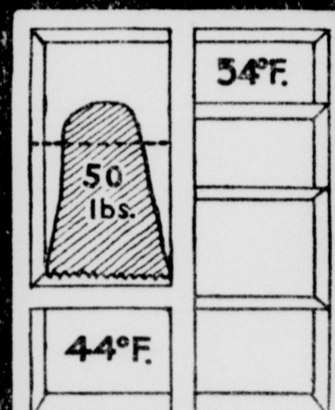

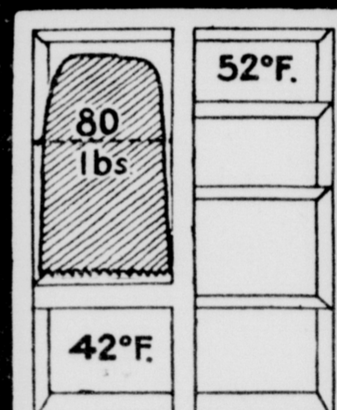

"At night I get some real good rest and in the morning I feel rested. Soon after my general health started to improve and my kidneys, liver and stomach acted better, those terrible rheumatic pains started to let up and it wasn't long before I could get around again. Now I can get around almost as good as ever in spite of those terrible pains. My nerves have quieted and I have gained in strength. Is it any wonder that I am so enthusiastic about Owa-Ton-Na when it has given me such wonderful relief? I gladly praise it to other sufferers and know that if they give it a good fair trial, they will be as well pleased with it as I am."
